Scientists create gene, plant it in living cell

Scientists say they have artificially created a gene, the basic unit of heredity, and planted it in a living cell, where it worked like its real-life

The discovery at Massachusetts Institute of Technology was described by biologists as a major breakthrough in the study of

It culminates nine years of research by Nobel laureate Har Gobind Khorana. Two of his assistants planned to outline their findings Monday at a meeting in San Francisco of the American Chemical Society.

For the first time, scientists have linked together tiny bits of chemicals into an exact copy of the gene of a bacteria, then transplanted their creation and watched it help regulate the bacteria's living processes.

The scientists say they will next begin shifting about the internal chemistry of the gene to find out why it functions only at the precise mo-ment it is needed in the development

"We would like to find out how a gene turns itself on and off," said Dr. Hans-Joachim Fritz, one of the scientists on the project. "No other approach offers an equally exact method of changing the gene's struc-ture and looking at the change in its function.

The new achievement is a significant step toward better under-standing of fundamental life processes, and perhaps, in time, the ability to manipulate genes for human benefit. Genetic diseases might, for example, be treated by substituting healthy, man-made genes for defeccomplete and could not be transplanted.

So he and his colleagues began a quest to copy a gene of the bacteria E. coli. Two years ago, they announced that the gene was nearly complete. The next step was to insert it into a living bacteria and watch what happened.

About a week ago, they finally had their results. "The Petri dish had the spots on it we expected," said Fritz.

"It was pretty exciting."
Geneticist Maxine Singer of the National Cancer Institute said, "It was a very significant breakthrough tremendously exicting. At Harvard, Dr. Fotis Kafatos is working on a project that uses an organic method of duplicating genes.

Their breakthrough was developing this gene," he said. "Now they have demonstrated that it can work. This is very important. But I am not surprised that it worked."

A gene is the fundamental unit of heredity. It is a minute bit of information that directs the development of all that is alive. Everything from the color of a tomato's skin to the shape of a man's nose is determined by genes.

FAKES OUT THE ART EXPERTS

British artist Tom Keating tells London newsmen Friday he has painted more than 2,000 imitation masterpieces in the last 25 years in a crusade to discredit art dealers who he said are exploting artists. In the background is one of his works, his impression of Constable painting, 'The Haywain.'

Artist admits he 'fakes out' experts

LONDON (AP) - British artist Tom Keating, dubbed "the master faker of the century" by London art experts, publicly confessed Friday he painted more than 2,000 imitation masterpieces in the last 25 years. He said he did it as a one-man crusade to dupe and discredit dealers he claims have exploited artists.

The white-bearded Keating, 59, told a news conference that a number of his fakes were sold as genuine masterpieces, but he did not say specifically how many. He claimed that some dealers frequently had commissioned him to make forgeries.

Keating, a former engine-room crewman in the navy, said he often turned a blind eye to what dealers did with his forgeries, but he insisted: "I didn't do it to make a financial killing.

But he stirred up London's art world, a major center for art sales. One dealer, who asked to remain anonymous commented: "God knows what trouble this man has caused if his claims are true. How many of his fakes have been sold as the genuine article by unscrupulous art dealers or those who were fooled and acted in good faith?"

Keating first disclosed his forgeries in a letter to the Times of London last week, saying he had turned out copies of the works of the 19th century English artist Samuel

Prisoner kills family of 5, shoots himself

FORT MORGAN, Colo. (AP) - A prisoner freed on a work-release program murdered five members of ranch family, took an elderly woman and two girls hostage, raped one of the girls and then shot himself to death as pursuing officers closed in, police said. Authorities said Richard Joseph Turner, 23, killed John E. Hardin, 37, of Penrose and Hardin's wife, Toni, 35, and children, Laurie, 15, Carol, 13, and Jim, 3, after being released from the Fremont County Jail to load hay on the Hardin ranch Thurs-telephone repairman investigating reports that the family's telephone was off the hook found the bodies of Hardin and his wife in their garage Friday morning and notified theriff's deputies, who found the todies of the children in the house.

Fremont County Coroner Henry Graybow said Mrs. Hardin and the couple's two daughters had been raped. He said one of the victims was shot in the head, but the bodies of the other four were so badly battered he could not immediately determine the cause of death.

Authorities said Turner took Hardin's 1972 four-wheel-drive truck from the Penrose farm about 200 miles south of here and picked up an elderly farm woman and two young girls as he headed for this area.

It was about 20 miles from Fort Morgan that Turner sexually attacked two girls three years ago. He was initially charged with rape in that case but later pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of "gross sexual imposition" and was sentenced to up to five years in the state penitentiary at Canon City

He was spotted after the Civil Air Patrol launched a search and rescuers pulled him from a slope at the 8,000 foot level. His rented Cessna 150 crashed between 9 and 11 a.m. Thursday.

Nordquest was reported in critical condition in the intensive care unit at Arcadia Methodist Hospital, after being flown there by sheriff's hel-

A hospital spokesman said he suffered a broken leg, multiple broken bones, a chest injury and a mild head injury. Surgery was performed to repair some broken bones

Greg Nordquest, the victim's brother, said he was "very, very lucky to be alive. He was exposed for 26 hours or so.

But Nordquest quoted doctors as saying his brother's strong physical condition had been an asset. The victim is a Vietnam veteran.

The downed plane was spotted by an Air Force search plane which picked up a signal from Nordquest's emergency locator transmitter.

Nordquest lives at 414 Kenoak, Covina but had been preparing to move to a home in La Verne.

A broken man floored

STOCKTON (AP) - Life has been a series of bad breaks for San Joaquin County Sheriff's Deputy Rudy Gott Jr., but still he manages to wax philosophic about it.

Gott injured his knees during a training exercise last year; and then fell and broke his collarbone while recuperating at home.

After returning to duty last May, he broke his left arm while lifting a drunk at the county jail. Gott returned to work Wednesday, and one day later broke his arm again in a jail accident.

When a friend advised him to stay in bed, Gott replied, "What do you mean, stay in bed? My wife makes me sleep on the floor because she's afraid I'll fall out of bed and hurt myself.

5-8 year labor camp terms given after heroin convictions MOSCOW (AP) - Three

Americans who admitted smuggling nearly 63 pounds of heroin into the Soviet Union, and apologized to a Moscow court for it, were sentenced Friday to labor camp terms ranging up to eight years.

The trial marked the first time since 1968 that Americans had been tried on any charge in the Soviet Union. Foreign and Soviet news media were given unusual freedom to cover the sessions, suggesting the Soviets wanted to reap a propaganda benefit and discourage drug traffic through their country.

Western diplomats believe the authorities have become concerned about contraband traffic through Moscow by Westerners flying from Asia to Western Europe. The route has been dubbed the "Moscow con-

The three-judge panel, headed by Chief Judge Lev K. Mironov, gave eight years to Gerald R. Amster, 33, of New York City. The court said Amster, who is unemployed, was responsible for the three having conspired with Chinese traffickers to carry the heroin - which has a New York street value of about $3 million from Malaysia to Europe via Moscow's international airport.

Dennis R. Burn, 26, a burglar alarm installer from Whitestone, N.Y., received seven years and Paul Brawer, 31, a building manager from Las Vegas, Nev., five years.

The sentences were ordered carried out in a "strengthened regime" camp less severe than the 'strict regime' camps that provide the toughest conditions for prisoners. The three seemed composed as they were led from the courtroom after the judgment. Brawer told a reporter he thought his sentence was fair. There was no comment from the other two.

The 1968 cases also involved drug smuggling charges. Three Americans were arrested in three separate incidents in Tashkent, the capital of Uzbekistan, a Soviet republic bordering Afghanistan. They were charged with smuggling marijuana and hashish from Afgha-

The Soviet courts convicted all three and gave sentences of three years' imprisonment to Stephen F. Abney of Milwaukee, Wis., five years to Dale Reed Warren, a reside Spain, and two years to Pedro Generalao of Somerton, Ariz.

The Russian laywers for the three Americans sentenced Friday said they would file appeals to the supreme court of the Russia federated state within the seven-day appeal period. One lawyer said the higher court would probably take about a month to hear the appeal.

Two men sought in slaying of mother

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) - A 43-year-old mother was found dead in a ravine Friday, two days after she and her three children were kidnaped. The three children were found unhurt in another town.

Police said they were searching for two men in a dark-colored car.

"I think leaving the children was part of the plan," said Sheriff's Lt. Sim Middleton. "But we think somewhere their plan fell apart.

Middleton said deputies conducting surveillance reported persons with Citizens Band radios flooded the area and may have frightened the kidnapers away from their proposed money-drop area.

"I'm not trying to give the impression I'm down on CB radios, but it appeared to the officers at the scene that a lot of people who showed up had CB rigs.

He said it is possible that frequency scanners often used by persons with CB outfits could have picked up police calls and attracted the curious crowd.

'A lot of people including criminals use these things to listen in on police frequencies," he said.

Valley man, 21, drowns in rough Colorado currents; body found

By PHYLLIS' CANNON PB Staff Writer

A 21-year-old Ontario man, vacationing on the Colorado River with friends, drowned as turbulent currents pulled him under when he dived into the river to cool off.

Yuma County, Arizona, Sheriffs Deputies identified the victim as Jeffrey E. Lewis of 1656 E. Bonnie Brea Court, an orthopedic technician at the Pomona Valley Community

Deputies said Lewis apparently dived from a small boat near Parker Dam about 3 p.m. Tuesday and his body did not surface until 1 p.m. FriThey quoted friends who reported that on Tuesday afternoon Lewis said, "It's hot. I'm going to take a dip and cool off." They said he dived into the churning water about onefourth mile south of Parker Dam and never came up. Sheriffs deputies from both Yuma and San Bernardino counties were alerted. A search was begun with men from the Buckskin Fire Department Rescue Squad in Parker diving repeatedly, but unsuccessfully, in attempts to locate Lewis.

Yuma County deputies said the body "floated up" Friday and was spotted by vacationers along the river near where Lewis had left his friends on Tuesday.

Those in the craft with Lewis, according to the deputies, were Buferd Wilson, 21, Pomona; Steven Gill, 22, Ontario; John Fleming, 23, Pomona; and Jim Dunne, 22, Temple City.

A spokesman at Pomona Valley Community Hospital said Lewis and Gill, a surgical aide, had left for a river vacation with friends early Locally, friends said the parents of the dead man, Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Lewis of Maryland, had flown to Parker.

Installation of a six million electron volt linear accelerator is being completed this week at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland. The $200,000 addition to the hospital is a replacement for the Cobalt 60 Teletherapy Unit installed in 1966 for the treatment of patients with cancer.

Some of the technical advantages of the linear accelerator include greater skin sparing effect, increased depth dose, sharper beam margins and a more uniform field, according to Dr. Worth A. Hooper, director of radiology and radiation therapy at the hospital.

Other advantages, are a decreasing of the treatment time, greater tolerance by patients and the reduction of incidence of radiation sickness and other side effects.

Plans for the upgrading of the equipment in the department of radiation therapy were made several years ago when the planning for the new department included the linear accelerator and an especially constructed room for newer, more advanced developments.

The late William Vogel, a former trustee of the hospital and a citrus rancher, made the initial gift to the hospital in 1964 to establish the radiation therapy department.

He also designated a major portion of his estate to insure the continued development of the department.

Nixon's closest neighbor recalls a few calls

SAN CLEMENTE (AP) - The Richard M. Nixons don't drop by often, but they - or their aides - do give their closest neighbor an occasional call.

In emergencies, and particularly while Nixon was in office, aides turned to Paul Presley, the president and part owner of the San Clemente Inn.

"Sure, the Nixon people needed me," Presley said in an interview.

'One Saturday, I got a call from the house. 'The President wants to go to church tomorrow somebody on the staff said. Where should he go?

"I said that he'd been to some of the big churches in town and that he ought to go to a small one, like the Christian Church. So they said, 'All right, go tell the pastor that he'll be there at one minute to 11. "I went to the church, told the pastor who I was and set it all up. I told him they'd have to put in a phone and he promised to see that the church was full. I said, 'And when you see me in the morning, pretend you know me. "The pastor met us at the door and he gave me a

"One day they called and said the man wanted to be seen with some old folks. I went over to where the oldtimers bowl on the lawn. They know me from when I was on the City Council.

"I told them we were going to have a tournament Thursday, with a big trophy and everything, and that the old men should brtheir womenfolk because there'd be refresh-

In 1972, after Nixon's renomination at Miami Beach, an aide asked Presley to collect 3,500 people to welcome the Nixon helicopter. He rounded up 22,000.

Presley also remembers a sadder day for Nixon when a call came Aug. 9,

"They asked me to collect about 30 people to meet the helicopter from Washington, that the man needed cheering up in a bad way.

"When I got to the house with my party, I found 3,000 people lining the fence, anxious to let the President know they were with him."

The Nixons have been isolated most of the time since leaving the White House. When Pat Nixon returned home from the hospital recently after her stroke, Presley said he sent some people over there to tidy up the place and arranged for some

Dodger bats KO Koosman

Yeager's third hit of the game, a two-run double off Jerry Koosman in the eighth inning, snapped a tie and helped Don Sutton and the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the New York Mets 5-2 Friday night.

Yeager, who entered the game with a .217 average, doubled and singled the first two times he faced

JCs revamp releaging plan

The trials and tribulations of the proposed junior college releaguing nlan continue

According to the latest version of the plan, locals Chaffey, Citrus and Mt. San Antonio are still slated to be placed in the same league for the 1977-78 athletic year. However, the other members of this proposed conference have changed from the original alignment.

The new version, as put forth by the State JC Committee on Ahtletics, has Palomar, Riverside City College, San Bernardino Valley College, San Diego City College and Southwestern joining Chaffey, Citrus and MSAC in an eight-team loop.

The three southern schools (Palomar, SDCC and Southwestern) are new additions to the planned league. Previously, College of the Desert and Rio Hondo had been part of a seven-team alignment.

The beauty of this latest proposal by the State JC Committee is that MSAC, Chaffey and Citrus will all be back in the same conference for the first time since the old Eastern Conference disbanded in 1968.

The problem with this latest plan is that it restores three southern schools, and thus won't solve the problem of travel expenses or lack of interest and natural rivalries among members of the loop.

Since cutting down on travel was supposed to be one of the major objectives of the entire releaguing project, it's hard to figure what exactly this new alignment will accomplish other than, in effect, placing MSAC in what is now the Mission Conference and removing Saddleback from same Saddleback would be placed in an eight-team "Orange County" loop hich would include current South Coast Conference members Fullerton, Orange Coast, Santa Ana, Grossmont and San Diego Mesa along with Cypress and Golden West.

SCC power Cerritos would be placed in a loop closely resembling the old Metro Conference. The Falcons would join Bakersfield, East L.A., El Camino, Long Beach CC, Los Angeles CC, L.A. Harbor and L.A. Mission in this proposed eighteam league.
The remaining 24 Southland JCs

would be dispersed into three other teagues. Final vote on the massive reshuffling of JC leagues will take place in October.

Main reason for the numerous changes from the initial releaguing plan was that the San Diego schools did not want to be placed into the same conference. Apparently the smaller San Diego JCs figure they can't ever hope to compete athletically with the larger JCs like Mesa and Grossmont. That's unfortunate, because an all-San Diego County conference would save all Southland schools a lot of money and headaches, and would certainly enhance fan interest in the San Diego

* * No one can accuse Citrus or MSAC of picking on a couple pigeons in their season openers this fall. The Owls open Sept. 10 vs. Fullerton JC, a squad which has been a grid power for many seasons. The Hornets posted a 7-2 mark last year and are favored to win the SCC this time around, due mainly to the fact that 14 of their starters and 35 lettermen are returning. In fact many observers wouldn't be a bit surprised to see FJC wind up in the recently revived Junior Rose Bowl come Dec.

Thus, the unbeaten streak (9-0-2 last year) of the owls will be on the line right off the bat when the two powers collide Sept. 10. However, Owl mentor John Strycula has pulled off a few "miracles" in prior seasons and you can be sure Citrus will give Fullerton a game of it.

MSAC will debut at home Sept. 11 vs. Rio Hondo, a team which lost only to JC national champion Orange Coast and the unbeaten Owls last fall. The Roadrunners won the Southern California Conference title in 1975.

The rest of the Owls' and Mounties' pre-conference slates are no picnic either. Citrus, in addition to Fullerton, will meet Long Beach CC and Rio Hondo prior to the start of the Mission Conference season. MSAC will square off against toughies Pasadena CC, Glendale CC and L.A. Harbor after opening vs.

pitched out of trouble both times.

In the eighth, Lee Lacy singled with one out and advanced to second on a single by Dusty Baker. That brought up Yeager and the catcher drove home both runners with a double to left center. Bill Buckner later drove in Yeager with a single.

The loss was Koosman's eighth against 16 victories and ended his streak of eight consecutive complete

Sutton, improving his record to 16-9, went all the way and allowed five hits. He struck out seven and walked

Home runs accounted for the first four runs in the game. Steve Garvey hit a two-run homer off Koosman in the first inning and Jerry Grote tied the score with a two-run blast off Sutton in the seventh.

Koosman retired the first two batters he faced before giving up a single to Bill Russell. Garvey followed by blasting the next pitch halfway back into the Dodgers bullpen in left field for his 10th home

It was Garvey's second home run in as many at-bats against New York pitching. The last time he faced the Mets was Aug. 19 in Los Angeles, and he slammed a ninth inning gametying home run against Skip Lockwood.

It was the 14th home run of the season permitted by Koosman, the most by any Mets pitcher.

Koosman was in continual difficulty over the first six innings, and although the Dodgers were unable to score, they stranded eight men on the bases between the second and sixth innings, including the second inning when a single by Lee Lacy and a double by Yeager gave Los Angeles runners on second and third with only one out.

Sutton was almost untouchable through the first six innings. A firstinning single by Felix Millan and another by Bruce Boisclair in the sixth were the only hits he allowed in that span. Both men were wiped out by force plays.

The Mets tied the score in the seventh when Sutton walked leadoff batter Ed Kranepool, and with one out. Grote hit his fourth homer of the year. It was the 20th homer yielded by Sutton.

Delaware lottery gets okay

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) - A federal judge rejected an attempt Friday by the National Football League to stop the state of Delaware from starting a professional football lottery next week.

U.S. District Court Judge Walter Stapleton turned down the NFL's request for an injunction to block the state from beginning the nation's first state-run professional football betting program.

In his order, Judge Stapleton said he did not agree with NFL attorneys that the league would suffer "irreparable harm" from the lot-

Tickets are scheduled to go on sale next Wednesday.

Judge Stapleton's opinion, only 11/2 pages long, gave no further reasons for his decision.

Lawyers for the NFL had argued during a court hearing Wednesday before Judge Stapleton that the "forced association" with gambling would change the "public perception of the game from the scoreboard to the tote board.'

But lawyers for Delaware said the game would merely be an extension of the office betting pools and cards played illegally by millions of persons for years.

Delaware expects to make about $2 million this year on the weekly game. Some of the other 13 states with lotteries were reportedly considering beginning the same type of lottery and were waiting to see what happened in the Delaware case. The lottery would have two parts. One, "Touchdown," would re-semble football cards in which a person would bet on three, four or five games and would have to pick both the winning teams and point

Dave Kingman back in action

NEW YORK (AP) - The New York Mets announced Friday night that slugger Dave Kingman, out of action for more than a month, has been reinstated.

Kingman tore ligaments in his left thumb diving for a ball in the outfield July 19. He was hitting .234 with 32 home runs and 72 RBI at the time. Philadelphia's Mike Schmidt currently shares the major league lead in homers with 32.

The Mets said that outfielder Jim Dwyer would be optioned to Tidewater of the International League to make room for Kingman on the roster. Dwyer, obtained in a trade with Montreal July 21, appeared in 10 games with New York and was batting .083.

New York bests Halos in marathon

By DON BRADLEY PB Staff Writer

ANAHEIM - Seeing the Angels for the first time in six weeks, one sees little change. At least that was the case Friday night.

The Halos wasted an excellent performance by Frank Tanana. The young lefty blanked the New York Yankees for 13 innings and struck out 13 but didn't figure in the decision. Catfish Hunter went 13 for the Yankees and also did not figure.

Sid Monge (5-5), John Verhoeven and Micky Scott couldn't stop the New Yorkers in the 15th inning. The Yanks had nine men bat and pushed across five runs in a 5-0 win.

Former Angel Mickey Rivers scored the first run, which actually was the winning tally. Rivers had singled and advanced to third on Roy White's single, He scored on Thurman Munson's grounder to Ron Jackson. Jackson's throw had Rivers beat, but catcher Terry Humphrey missed the tag.

What made it even more frustrating was that the Angels might have won the game in the eleventh. With two out and Ron Jackson at first, Mario Guerrero lined a clean single and Jackson made it easily to third with the potential winning run.

Although his run meant nothing. Guerrero for some reason tried to take second on the throw to third. He was an easy out, Roy White to Fred Stanley to Willie Randolph.

A tragic note occurred earlier when Dave Chalk's father suffered a heart seizure in the stands. Chalk left the game immediately and was at his father's side when he died at St. Joseph's Hospital in Orange. Russell Chalk was 56

ANGEL ANGLES - Nolan Ryan (10-16) faces Dock Ellis (12-6) tonight (7:30 p.m.). Hard luck Gary Ross (7-14) and lefthander Ken Holtzman (11-8) pitch in Sunday's 1 p.m. finale.

Mark "The Bird" Fidrych, sensational Detroit rookie pitcher, will clinch a place in the hearts of Halo

The Angels have been inundated with calls inquiring if Fidrych would pitch in the series at Anaheim Stadium starting Monday. Fidrych won't because he is slated to pitch against the A's in Oakland Sunday.

But upon being informed of the disappointment felt in Southern California, The Bird has asked to hold a special autograph session each evening before the game of all three Between 6:45 p.m. and 7:15 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Fidrych will sign as many autographs as possible.

Antonopolis vs. Renee today SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) -A vegetarian for the last four really not sure because I don't know months and an all-around sports

Lea Antonoplis says the best way for Renee Richards to gain acceptance from other women tennis players is ably to lose a match to someone like her.

Miss Antonoplis, 17, of Glendora, Calif., was slated to face the controversial eye surgeon from Newport Beach, Calif., who last year underwent a sex change operation, in today's semifinals of the Tennis Week Open.

Top-seeded Marise Kruger of South Africa and Florence Guedy of France were to meet in the other semifinal contest.

In men's semifinal action, topseeded and defending champion Ilie Nastase of Romania was to play Balazs Taroczy of Hungary on the Orange Lawn Tennis Club stadium court prior to the Richards-Antopoplis encounter

Second-seeded Roscoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., was to play fifth-seeded Onny Parun of New Zealand afterwards.

Finals are set for Sunday.

"I can't say for sure, but Dr. Richards would probably gain more acceptance if she lost to a player like said Miss Antonoplis, a high school senior who last year played on the Glendora High School boys tennis team. "Then she won't be known as a world beater. If a 17-year-old can beat her, everyone else will figure they can too," she said.

Win or lose, Miss Antonoplis said she was glad to have the publicity. "Antonoplis is not a household name." said the 5-foot-5 youngster, who is ranked third nationally in the 18-and-under category.

enthusiast, Miss Antonoplis said she thought Dr. Richards was "good for s tennis, one s giving us a lot of publicity.

Women's tennis needs to be in the limelight once in a while," Miss Antonoplis said. "She's not going to add depth to the women's field unless she's been holding back. But she's bringing us exposure and that's good."

Miss Antonoplis said she accepted Dr. Richards as a woman "tenniswise, but not physicially. She was a man for 40 years. There's no way she could deterioriate that fast muscle-

Angels schedule tryout at Galvin

The Angels will hold tryouts in Ontario's John Galvin Park Saturday and Sunday.

Scouts Paul Frey and Lou Cohenour will supervise the tryouts which will start at 9 a.m. each day.

Age requirements are from high school graduate age to 23. Boys must bring their own gloves and shoes and uniform or clothes suitable to playing baseball.

internally; she doesn't go through the discomfort that other women go through," Miss Antonoplis said. Women's play on Friday was conducted at nearby Seton Hall University because a heavy rain left all but the stadium court unplayable., In those matches, Miss Kruger beat Linda Thomas of Orlando, Fla., 6-0, 6-0, while Miss Guedy upset Carrie Meyer of Indianapolis, a late entry here but seeded 16th for next week's the U.S. Open, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Miss Meyer had been given the best chance by many of beating Dr. Richards, but tired during the twohour and 10-minute match against Miss Guedy.

In a stadium match delayed one hour by rain, Balazs Taroczy of Hungary advanced to a semifinal match against Nastase, the top seed and defending champ here, by defeating seventh-seeded Buster Mottram of Great Britain 7-6, 6-4.

Mottram could not cope with Taroczy's high looping topspin lobs and excellent net play. The Taroczy-Nastase match involves two worldclass clay court players. The stadium court at the Orange Lawn Tennis Club features a clay-like substance.

Second-seeded Roscoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., pulled out a tough one in evening play Friday, beating Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia 6-2, 3-6, 7-6, In the 12-point tiebreaker of the final set, Tanner won the last four points - the last two on his service.

Skyhawks take title

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Jimmy Hinch scored from five yards out midway through the second half, and teammate Ane Mahailovich booted home a penalty kick nine minutes later to give the Los Angeles Skyhawks a 2-1 victory over the New York Apollo in the American Soccer League Championship game Friday

The Skyhawks, trailing 1-0 at end of the first half, played the second with 10 men as Los Angeles forward Altie McKenzie was ejected at the 43 minute mark of the game.

The defending champion Apollo had moved ahead at the 37-minute mark of the first half on Danny Doran's goal.

But the Skyhawks, playing before a crowd of 9,379, took control of the game in the second half despite being

Rams face Bills; O.J. out

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The fellow they wanted to see when the Los Angeles Rams meet the Buffalo Bills tonight won't be in uniform at the Coliseum.

The deal for a two-game preseason National Football League series between the two clubs was set when O.J. Simpson, the Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California was with Buffalo.

Technically, he still is, but he isn't playing and has asked to be traded to a West Coast team. Since he announced publically that he might play just one more season, there hasn't been any club knocking down the Buffalo gates seeking the services of O.J.

Buffalo brings a 1-3 record to Los Angeles while the Rams are 4-0 and favored by nine points in the intersectional game during which each club will test rookies and potential with James Harris finishing up the final two quarters. The two are battling for the starting job with Harris, the No. 1 man most of last year, generally figured to be ahead.

The Rams' Coach, Chuck Knox, announced early that Ron Jaworski will

And if either Jaworski or Harris falters, the Rams have knowledgeable Pat Haden waiting to take over.

The Bills lost three straight and then exploded for a 37-0 victory over the Green Bay Packers last week. Joe Ferguson didn't start but came on to complete eight straight passes including touchdown shots of 9 and 4 yards to Bobby Chandler who was a USC teammate of Simpson, Gary Marangi had started and hit 14 of 22 passes for 103 yards. Overall, the Bills ran up 36 first downs, seven better than their regular season record, and totaled 477 yards. The shutout was the first for Buffalo in the pre-season since

The Rams, meanwhile, were whipped Oakland 23-14 in a battle of unbeaten contenders in their respective divisions

Coach Chuck Knox, who has won division titles in each of his three seasons with the Rams, has opened up the Los Angeles offense this season with more passing, reverses and trick plays.

However, with the offense based on rushing last year, the Rams posted a 12-2 record and went to the NFC championship game even having lost five starters with injuries.
The Bills' defense features rookies

Ken Jones and Mario Clark in starting roles for the first time, the former at left end and the latter at left corner.

Los Angeles made its major changes on offense with the retirement of Charlie Cowan and Joe Scibelli. Second year players Doug France and Dennis Harrah have taken over the starting positions.

The kickoff is scheduled at 7 p.m.

N.Y. Sets claim the WTT title

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) - The New York Sets, with Sandy Mayer and Virginia Wade posting lopsided singles victories, trounced the Golden Gaters 31-13 Friday night to clinch the World Team Tennis championship.

The Sets won every set in completing a 3-0 sweep in the best-of-five playoff series. The match was played at the Nassau Coliseum before 5,730 fans. New York won the first two matches in Oakland 31-23 and 29-21.

Billie Jean King and Phil Dent opened the action with a 7-6 decision over Betty Stove and Frew Mc-Millan in mixed doubles. It was the only match that was close.

Mayer trounced Tom Okker 6-1 to give the Sets a commanding lead, losing only 10 points. Mayer has dominated Okker in this win my 20th here," said Jones, who was called from the dugout several times to acknowledge ovations from the crowd of 21,301.

Jones' fifth shutout tied him with New York Mets left-hander Jon Matlack for the National League lead in that department, while the Padres ace lowered his earned run average to 2.63.

The 26-year-old Padres' ace had lost five of his last six decisions, but was back on form against the Expos, retiring 23 on infield grounders with his sinker.

This is the most consecutive setbacks for the Expos since 1969 when they lost 20 straight.

Graham AKRON, Ohio (AP) -Australian David Graham, a globetrotting jack-of-alltrades, ignored the moans and groans of Arnie's Army, pieced together a five-under-par 67 and took a one-stroke lead Friday in Classic. Graham, who has won titles on four continents, writes a column for a golf magazine and ranks as one of the game's better club designers, put together a 36-hole total of 136, eight under par for two trips around and over the 53 acres of water that feature the 7,105-yard North course at the Firestone Country Club.

"I didn't do anything I don't normally do, shrugged Graham, winner of the rich Westchester Classic two weeks ago. "I was hitting the ball well and putting well. The thing is. I've only had one bogey (on the first hole of the tournament) in 36 holes."

He also credited his pairing with Arnold Palmeroften considered a handicap because of the vast, enthusiastic mobs that follow the legendary 46year-old master-with aiding his fast start in this invitational event.

'You always hear how difficult it is because of the screaming of the crwods," Graham said, "but I don't think I've ever enjoyed two days of golf as much. Maybe I concentated a bit more playing with him."

Graham, needing a finish of eighth or better to gain entry into next week's new World Series of Golf, had a one-stroke lead over the confident Masters champion, Ray Floyd. 'I expect to finish high,

Floyd said after a solid 68 put him at 137. "I finished second in the PGA and fifth last week. I'm playing well. I'm pleased with the state of my game. I know I'm a good player. There's no reason I shouldn't finish high. I have a very good feeling about it."

Dan Sikes, the 45-yearold veteran who led the first round, slipped to a par 72 and was tied for third at 138 with Tom Jenkins and Bobby Wadkins. Jenkins closed up with a 67 in the hot humid hazy weathe and Wadkins shot 71.

After Sargis ripped losing pitcher Brian Smith's first pitch just over the center field fence, the Californians took advantage of several lapses by the U.S. South entry to score a pair of unearned runs. Successive errors with one out put runners at second and third. Smith uncorked a wild pitch to allow one runner to score, and a throwing error by the catcher on the same play brought in another.

Marshall has been working on his degree since 1969, and his time will be up in December, 1977. But he calls that rule "absurd" and says it shows MSU officials "have it in for me."

"Why am I being penalized because I'm a professional baseball player half the year and a student half the year?" he said. "There's no reason for it except that certain persons have it in for me. Why does a university of the size and stature of MSU want to be so petty?'

MSU officials say they won't bend the rules for Marshall, whom they say has had "plenty of time" to finish his dissertation on kinesiology, the study of human motion.

"This thing about the time limit on my Ph.D. is just another effort to make Mike Marshall conform to the rules," says Marshall, 33. "I've always conformed to the rules, except when I felt they violated my rights as a student."

The degree discrimination charge comes on top of Marshall's first claim several months ago that the school is discriminating against him by refusing to let him use a baseball practice area very close to tennis courts.

That dispute is in court, with the school suing Marshall for cutting a lock off the practice area, and Marshall countersuing the school for arbitrarily changing rules on use of the practice area. He is also charging school officials with harrassment.

LONDON (AP) - Two Olympic gold medalists and one winner of the silver medal used the forbidden anabolic steroid drugs at the Montreal Games, the International Olympic Committee's medical commission said A report from the commission on rechecks made on urine samples also named an American and a Swedish athlete who were disqualified July 30 for using the banned drug but made no mention of a Polish woman discus thrower or a male Czech medical commission's findings have been transmitted to the IOC and will be considered by its executive board at a meeting in Barcelona in October. The report made no men-

Games. The commission said in its report that it "deplores the publication of names of competitors before analysis of the second samples of urines had confirmed the presence of a steroid, the information concerning names and countries involved was not released by the commis-

Army lawyers accused of blackmail tactic

(AP) - Army lawyers holding affidavits which they say implicate hundreds of cadets in the U.S. Military Academy's worst cheating scandal were accused of virtual blackmail Friday by the chairman of a Senate subcommittee.

Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., who heads the manpower and personnel subcommittee, made the accusation in a Senate speech a few hours after the superintendent appealed to accused cadets here to turn over the affidavits.

"At any time anyone shares them with us, we would welcome them," Lt. Gen. Sidney B. Berry told reporters. He said the Army would "search out" additional honor code violators "with whatever evidence is provided."

A defense lawyer said later that the accused cadets were, in fact, preparing to turn over the documents in which cadets already charged purportedly detail other honor code violations and name participants.

"It is important to realize ... that it is the counsel defense themselves who bear the principal responsibility for the failure to conduct a thorough inquiry into the extent of cheating at West Point." Nunn told the Senate. He continued:

"Yet in a flagrant attempt to intimidate some may say blackmail the Army into reinstating their clients, they have refused to turn these affidavits over to the Army for investigations.

"Thus, on the one hand defense counsel berate the Army for not pursuing a thorough investigation of cheating at West Point, while on the other they refuse to make available information without which such an investigation is impossible.

Meantime, Sen. Dewey F. Bartlett, R-Okla., urged a staff investigation by the Senate Armed Services Committee, saying, "Extensive cheating is symptomatic of a deeper illness in the honor system itself."

A spokesman for Nunn said that the recommendation was being considered to assess attitudes about the honor code and that any changes in the code should be left to the cadets.

In a sidewalk interview after his news conference, Berry said withholding the affidavits is irresponsible. The accused cadets and their Army defense lawyers have been using the affidavits as a tactical device in efforts to win more lenient treatment, he

The trolley museum...

...a colorful bit of nostalgia

"Clang, clang, clang! went the trolley . . . '

The words of the old Judy Garland hit, "The Trolley Song," may recur to many people when they pay a visit to the Orange Empire Trolley Museum in Perris to view dozens of colorful electric railway cars — the old trolley cars or "street cars."

The museum is not another Knott's Berry Farm or Magic Mountain with rides, restaurants, shows and entertainment. Set in a dusty plot a few miles south of the small town of Perris, it is, in fact, a museum of a fading transportation system, of interest primarily to street car and railway buffs and to people keen on nostalgia. The collection includes "the big red cars" that rattled from Los Angeles to through a small trench in the street. With the invention of the dynamo, it became possible to use electricity for this popular pre-automobile form of transportation which rapidly became the life-blood of cities and towns from coast to coast. The first successful one in America was set up in Richmond, Va., in 1888.

The streetcar gets its power from an overhead line attached to the car by a long trolley pole. The current generated in a central powerhouse passes along the wires to the trolley pole and so to the motors under the car. The motorman controls the

It happened in Pomona

What happened to Everett Watt on the morning of Aug. 11, 1908, should never have happened to a bright, ambitious young fellow who was making a name for himself in Pomona as an ingenious and original merchandise display man. But like all artists, Everett became so engrossed that morning in the display masterpiece he was creating that he failed to take the precautions he usually displayed when engaged in such work. As a result, a Pomona Progress reporter had his feature story for the

"He was descending from a ladder on which he had been standing while cleaning some woodwork and arranging a display at The Idyllwild, and inadvertently he placed his foot on a small box containing chewing gum on one of the fine, large candy showcases. He lost his balance and fell. The glass box which contained the gum was broken into fragments and the top of the showcase ruined. A considerable quantity of candy was rendered unfit for use.

It is ghost time in Japan

TOKYO (AP) - A soft zephyr chills the sweltering night, rustling the leaves of the weeping willows amidst the trickling sound of water. A pale blue light suddenly flashes in the darkness, followed by an eerie moan. Then a pale female face with long, stringy hair lights up like a full moon.

A spine-tingling whisper echoes "Woo-rah-meh-shi-ya-

"Woo-rah-meh-shi-ya-a-a" means spite and woe, and most ghosts in Japan, according to tradition, return during the hot months, seeking sympathy and consolation.

It is ghost time in Japan again and, more than ever before, noted Japanese ghosts are making their annual popular appearances in Kabuki plays and vaudeville houses, in movies and television shows and on radio. Books on ghosts, the occult and fantasy are in great demand - as they have been for decades around the time of "Obon," the Buddhist festival for the dead.

Among the more popular ghosts is Okiku-san, a young maid who broke one of her master's 10 prize plates. He murdered her with his sword in a fit of anger and tossed her body into a well.

On a hot summer night she emerged from the well as a ghost and haunted her master by dropping his treasured ceramics into the well, counting "one plate, two plates, three plates ..." until he went mad and took his own life.

Theaters employ a variety of gimmicks, including lights and sounds, to frighten the audience. There are rising and sinking platforms, floating ghosts, bouncing balls of fire, flashes of lightning and thunder.

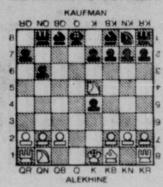

In the small "yose," or vaudeville houses where the audience is brought close to the stage, the story teller relates his tale, employing the tricks of his trade — voice, face, motions — suddenly switches off the lights, then turns them on dimly. During the interval he has donned a wig and the mask of a ghost and glowers in the shadow of a glowing flickering candle light, moaning "woo-rah-meh-

Youngsters looked impressive

Manhattan International Tournament was unique in American chess history. While sporting three grandmasters and four international masters among its players, that tournament also included a 13year-old, Michael Wilder of New Jersey and a 12year-old, Joel Benjamin of Brooklyn.

BEGINNER'S CORNER

WHY DID BLACK RESIGN?

Hint and explanation: White threatens two knight moves which win material (and the game). Can the knight be stopped?

Though these players fin-ished 15th and 16th, respectively, in the 16-person field, they played many impressive games. Benjamin, for example defeated the very strong international master from Canada. Bruce Amos in the penultimate round.

Joel also played to a standstill grandmaster Anatol Lein, a first prize winner, until a blunder on move 53 gave the point to the veteran player. After the game the flabbergasted Lein played this tribute: "Benjamin plays like a master, in three or four years he may be a grandmaster.

His appraisal, based as it was on hard experience, was in sharp contrast to that of another grandmaster who, protesting the inclusion of Benjamin in the tournament, complained: what does a 12-year-old know about anything.

Stamps in the news

By SYD KRONISH

Ancient art objects reflect the culture and heritage of a people, and delicate works of art make for beautiful esigns on postage stamps.

This week, two countries have issued stamps illustrating centuries-old pottery items as their basic designs. The Isle of Man and West Germany have both produced stamp sets which will also be of interest to opical collectors who specialize in this subject

The Isle of Man's set consists of six stamps which are its 1976 "Europa" issue. The history of pottery on this island can be traced back to the Bronze Age. Depicted are: a "Barroose Beaker," an example of early Bronze Age work; a souvenir teapot in the shape of a man sitting on a tree stump; a Laxey jug with personal monogram; a Cronk Aust food vessel from the early Bronze Age; a Sansbury Bowl of porcelain; and a Knox urn of Celtic design. Each stamp bears the Queen Elizabeth II vignette profile in the upper left corner

The West German set has four values, each of which reproduces archeological findings as a tribute to its cultural heritage, according to World Wide Philatelic Agency. The 30-pfennig shows a ritual chariot in bronze discovered in a grave of Acholshausen dating back to the Urnfeld Age. The 40-pf depicts a bowl with gold ornaments from a dig at Schwarzenbach. The 50-pf bears a silver necklace of Trichtinger with the insignia of a Celtic Prince. The 20-pf features a Roman Empire Cup with ornaments of masks from the treasures discovered at Hildesheim.

An attractive Bicentennial album which tells stories of the American Revolution via stamps is being made available by the U.S. Postal Service. It is entitled Stories of the American Revolution" and contains 23 U.S. and foreign stamps together with background information on such subjects as the Declaration of Independence, passing of the Stamp Act, and Assembly of the First Continental Congress. Honored individuals noted are George Washington, Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin.

There are nine mint U.S. stamps, including one block of four, in the kit, plus issues from Nicaragua, Ajman, Panama, Granada, upper Volta and Equatorial Guinea. The mulit-color album contains hinges to hold the stamps and a 32-page booklet featuring "The ABC's of Stamp

The new kit can be purchased directly at more than 100 post offices throughout the country. The cost is $3.00. You may also order by mail, addressed to: "Stories, Philatelic Sales Division, Washington, D.C. 20265. There is a 50-cent handling charge for mail orders.

The recent opening of the new building of the National Air and Space Museum, part of the Smithsonian Institution, is being commemorated by the latest philatelic cover in the Milestones of Flight series. Featured on the cachet, No. 41 in the continuing series, is a picture of the Museum with the cancellation dated July 31 - opening day of the new edifice.

The price of the cover is $1.25 and it can be ordered from: Milestones of Flight, National Air and Space Museum, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C. 20560. Make your money order payable to the Smithsonian Institution. If a large, self-addressed and stamped envelope is enclosed for return of your cacheted cover, the order will be processed more rapidly.

A handsome station greets visitors to the museum.

Railroad buffs from all over the West flock to the Orange Empire Trolley Museum in Perris where dozens of old street cars are collected and preserved. The exhibit includes a wide range of street cars from Toonerville Trolleys to modern trolley buses. On weekends the cars are taken from the barns to provide families the thrill of a street car ride. Admission and parking are free.

The museum boasts a replica of an old-fashioned railway junction station.

The wholesale scrapping and destruction of the familiar street cars of Southern California, following the take-over of the automobile, pained many street car aficionados, and in 1956 a group of 14 gathered to establish, by volunteer effort and public donations, a museum where the cars could be preserved for posterity. The Perris property was acquired as a location for a museum, and in 1958 the first car arrived.

The struggling organization bought cars at the market value of the salvage and outbid scrap dealers for the rapidly-becoming-historical vehicles. Railroad and transit companies, impressed by the enthusiasm and dedication of the group, donated abandoned cars and railway equipment. The collection has grown to become the third largest operating electric railway museum in the nation

OETM has preserved a wide variety of Western electric railway cars from the early Toonerville Trolley-types to modern streamliners. There are also representative cars from Canada, Japan and Ireland. For fans of the railroad, there are also a few examples of engines, cabooses, freight cars and the now-extinct observation car from the rear platform of which generations of Presidential candidates perorated on whistle-stop tours of America.

The museum is open to the public, free admission and parking, daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., but it comes alive on weekends, when the old streetcars clang their bells and move out of the barns. Signal lights flash, conductors call warnings, and visitors scramble aboard, for parents a return to a bygone era, for children their first ride on a "real live street car.

Everyone at work on the network of lines across the sprawling complex is a volunteer - the conductor, the motorman, the painter working on a car, the crew constructing more track, the technicians busy "up in the air" on the overhead lines and

This is what makes the Orange Empire Trolley Museum work - the volunteer efforts of its 800 members who do car maintenance, lay track, work on electrical wiring, repair motors and do painting and carpentry. Even the workers in the small gift shop where books, records, postcards and railway memorabilia are on sale, volunteer their time and Memberships in the museum range from $10 annual dues to $200 for a life membership. The organization is an officially recognized educational institution and all donations are tax deductible.

Rocker designed for amateur carpenters

By STEVE ELLINGSON

Even if you've never tackled any carpentry project before, with a few hours work you can be rocking happily away in this handsome, sturdy chair. Specially designed for the amateur handyman, this rocker requires only a saw, a drill and a screwdriver to complete. As a matter of fact, the only problem you'll have is the waiting line for who's first to rock

The full-size pattern we've designed has all the parts clearly marked, so you just trace them on the wood, saw out the parts and screw together. We've even pinpointed the spots for the screws, so nothing is left to chance. We suggest redwood for the material, but you can use any wood you choose. And if you're not into rocking, a special design on the pattern lets you make the chair stationary. A full materials list is included with the plan, along with stepby-step photographs to make building this rocker a snap.

To obtain the Rocking Chair Pattern 130, send $1.50 (includes first class postage and handling) by cash, check or money order to Steve Ellingson, c/o: Pomona Progress-Bulletin Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. 91409.

10 generations have lived in old family home place

HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) When America won her independence, members of the Staats family had already lived in a riverfront house here for almost 100 years. They still do.

Lawrence Staats, bachelor seaman who describes himself as the family's "caretaker-inresidence," is clearly proud of the place where he grew up, but is finding it increasingly difficult to avoid bicentennial enthusiasts.

'That bicentennial wagon train wanted to camp here for the night," he said, pointing to a meadow that is part of the Staats' 50 acres. The wagon train was a crosscountry trek recreating the journey of the pioneers

"We had to tell them no. We just don't have toilet facilities for all those people," he said.

In fact, Lawrence Staats doesn't even have indoor toilet facilities for himself. He has to go next door to the "new" addition occupied by his brother's family. That part of the house is only about 150 years old.

Staats is glad to take visitors on a tour of the little fieldstone cottage, pointing out interesting items as well as his own repairs and improvements. But the house, believed a museum. It is the everyday home for the Staatses and a family gathering spot for their relatives and friends.

There is some dispute about the age of the house and when the family first occupied it. But none of the experts believes that more than a handful of American families have lived in the same place longer.

In 1642 Maj. Abram Staats came to the New World aboard the Dutch ship Houttyn. According to the family, his sons Samuel and Jochim bought the house and property from the VanRensselaer family for 10,500 guilders in 1688.

A local historical society once toured the homestead and told its members in a brochure that "there are some who think the house may not have been built until 1722.

Connie Staats. Lawrence's sister-in-law, was upset about that. She has painstakingly reconstructed the family history from old wills, letters, historical accounts and the memories of her relatives

Spreading out her handwritten family tree on a small living room table, Mrs. Staats said that by her calculations 10 generations of Staatses have lived in the house. She counts a mayor of nearby Albany, as well as Schuylers and VanRensselaers among the ancestors

Although it sits on a halfmile of valuable land on the Hudson River and the family has had more than 300 years to furnish it, the house is not a grand old mansion full of valuable antiques. Most of the furniture has just been accumulated over the years.

The only entrance to the old part of the house is through the kitchen. originally an above-ground cellar. The hand-hewn beams there, once boxed over in an attempt at modernization, are exposed again.

The adjacent living room, with its dark wood trim and wide-plank floors, is furnished in a comfortable Early American Upstairs, the house's oldest section is in various stages of repair. A chimney is slowly being rebricked and the plaster is cracked in many spots, exposing the hand-hewn frame and the horsehair. mud and straw that went into the original building material.

The second-floor hallway is occupied by a sturdy Dutch cabinet called a "kas." Other evidence of the clan's Dutch heritage is on display in the form of an early 18th-century spinning wheel, a pair of wooden shoes, a 1767 map of the old VanRensselaer old patroonship (territory) that once occupied most of the area, and a copy of the family coat of arms.

Even outdoors, the homestead is full of a sense of history. And it is not just colonial history; it spans the entire development of the nation

On a little knoll above the house is a family cemetery. The oldest legi-ble stone reads 1707. The newest, 1966.

"I wasn't particularly disturbed," she recalls. "I belonged to a writers' group in Detroit where the feeling you got was you send it to about 15 publishers before you think of revising."

But the third time was the charm, because it was accepted by Viking, becoming the first unsolicited novel to be accepted by that publisher since 1949.

The story is about a teenage boy who has returned home from a mental institution after a suicide try. He attempts, with the help of a psychiatrist, to come to terms with his feelings of guilt over the death of his brother in a boating accident that he survived.

"Adolescence is a difficult stage and a stage where a lot of your attitudes about life are formed and formed rather tightly," said Ms. Guest, adding that she had done no research in the field of psychiatry in connection with the book. "I just wrote it. I wasn't really consciously thinking whether it was accurate.

"Mainly I was interested in wanting to put across the feeling you have about depression and what to do about it. I've always been interested in the human mind and how it works and how your emotions play on you and what, if anything, you can do to get out from under this control."

The writer, a younglooking 40 with short dark hair and a ready smile, is married to Larry LaVercombe, who has a management job with a microfilm

BICENTENNIAL

In many areas during the Revolutionary War. Tories allied themselves with various Indian tribes and played havoc with patriots. The sleepy village of Minisink, N.Y. along the Pennsylvania border was the scene of a Tory-Indian raid on the night of July 19. 1779. Indians led by Mohawk Chief Joseph Brant withdrew after burning and looting the village, only to wait in ambush for 150 local militiamen that set out after them. The World Almanac notes that 45 patriots were killed before both forces left the field.

company. She is a greatniece of poet Edgar Guest, whom she met "at funerals and weddings — family things."

A graduate of the Univerity of Michigan with a BA in education, she taught elementary school for a few years and worked briefly on a newspaper.

"I worked in the short story medium off and on," she says. "It is still a fascination of mine, and after finishing a novel I'm working on I intend to go back to the short story, though it's harder for me. Poetry is on another level, completely beyond me. My poetry is very autobiographical and very bad."

In her house in Detroit, where the family lived until last year, Ms. Guest created a writing room by evicting her son from his bedroom and putting him in with his brother, but admits she felt guilty about "kicking him out."

"Now we have an older home built in 1913 that has lots of nooks and crannies and I picked out one that's the perfect size for writing and has a door so you can shut everything out."

Although she says "writing is so time-consuming it just about sucks up every available moment I have," she has started working in stained glass, finding it a welcome change.

"The two things play off against each other, each creative in an entirely different way. And I play racket ball because I feel I have to do something, though I'm not athletic like the rest of my family."

Nearly ten years ago Gary Wright gave up studying psychology in favor of rock and roll. Since then he has been into a lot of music including membership in the Spooky Tooth, producing Splinter and Tim Rose and supersessioning with such musical heavies as George Harrison. And twice he's gone off on promising solo careers. This second time looks really good with a big hit single like "Love Is Alive". Wright has no plans to go back to school but says he's still invloved with psychology to the extent that "it's my goal to be as alert and clear as I can. Also having formed bands, quit, and reformed them I realize I had to develop my own individual talent." And that's just what Gary is doing right now with such extraordinary success. # Artist gets thank you from Ford

SAN DIEGO (AP) Dave Brockman says the White House can have the presidential painting he sent. Getting a dance and a kiss from the First Lady was payment enough.

Not that Brockman, 65, ever asked for payment. His painting of president and Mrs. Ford was done for the joy of it.

None of his other paintings of presidents, however, has broug t him quite as big a reaction as the one of the Fords.

There've been photos and publicity, letters from White House aides, a letter from Ford telling him the painting probably would go on display, and best of all, a waltz with Mrs. Ford and a kiss on the Brockman, a civilian specialist with North Island Naval Air Station (he polishes glass and plastic for the Navy), dabbles with a brush in his spare hours. He paints from photographs.

Brockman first started collecting photos of Ford in late 1974 and did about a dozen sketches.

'But I just couldn't find the right type of photo to work from," he said.

Then he came across a photo of Ford's swearingin, showing the president with his eyes a bit closed and Mrs. Ford standing alongside with a Bible.

Brockman completed his painting late in 1975 and sent a photo of it to Ford, asking if the president would like the real thing.

In February, Brockman got a letter from the

When he was younger Brockman did portraits of Presidents Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt. Both those were accepted by the men with simple thank-you letters.

An English liqueur set

By Dorothy Hammond QUESTION: I have an interesting piece that has been handed down through the family. I have never seen another liqueur set quite like it and would appreciate knowing its value. It measures 141/2 inches in length, is 51/2 inches wide and 91/2 inches high to the cover plate. The cover and other hardware appear to be silver-plated brass, somewhat tarnished because of the salt air near the coast. The three decanters are matching; however, one stopper is slightly smaller than the other two. I believe the glass to be "pressed" glass. The holder appears to be of mahogony and is in excellent con-dition. The hallmark is "Betjemann's-London." I will appreciate your estimate of value. W.G.B.

ANSWER: Around the $200 figure if the decanters are perfect.

QUESTION: I was not aware until recently that a stick spatter-type ware was once produced by CYBIS of Trenton, N.J. Although the one piece in our collection is unmared - a very knowledgeable antique dealer has assured me that my cup plate is American, not English. Could this be possible? The pattern is the famous Satifordshire peafowl. Thank you for any information you can provide, Mrs. S.P.

ANSWER: Yes, spatterware reproductions were made by CYBIS from 1948-1952, and not all forms were marked. Those bearing marks will read "CYBIS" in Sans-serif capitals impressed, "AMERICANA" in capitals impressed, and an eagle impressed. The forms produced include an octagonal coffeepot, octagonal creamer, octagonal sugar bowl, small creamer, minature mug, dinner from $18-$22 in shops plate, salad plate, toddy plate, cup plate, handleless cup and a saucer. The spatter colors used were yellow, red, blue and green and the decorative motifs included a rooster, school house, peacock, and

QUESTION: My question concerns minatures of Bennington pottery. We re-cently inherited a limited collection of small items, and among these things was a small bowl and pitcher set 31/2 inches high. Both pieces are decorated with the old dark brown Rockingham glaze. Could we possibly have a 19thcentury set? Were these pieces considered to be toys even then? Mrs. A.W.

ANSWER: Yes - Rockingham glazed minatures were made during the last century and they were called toys. During the 17th and 18th centuries, minatures were not considered playthings for children, but instead these small, dainty delicate and oftentimes costly trinkets were produced for the amusement and diversion of the adults.

QUESTION: My question is how valuable is a Little Red Riding Hood cookie jar 131/4 inches high and marked "Hull Ware" The one that I have had since the 1930s is in perfect condition, as it has been used very little since my wife passed away. Is this cookie jar old enough to be a collectible? Please send me any information you have. E.M.

ANSWER: Yes, objects produced by the Hull Pottery are collectible today The firm began production at Crooksville, Ohio, in 1905. Art pottery was also produced here until 1950 when the firm was converted to utilitarian wares. Cookie jars like you des cribe are presently priced

FIRST LADY - Elleen Heckart portrays Eleanor Roosevelt in her one-character play, 'Eleanor," opening a two-week stand Sept. 13 at the Ahmanson Theater of the Los Angeles Music Center. Tickets are on sale at the box of-

'Eleanor' due at Ahmanson

Academy Award-winner Eileen Heckart will present her one-character portrayal of Eleanor Roosevelt in the Ahmanson Theater of the Los Angeles Music Center starting Sept. 13. The play, "Eleawill run for two nor.

Miss Heckart achieved pre-eminence in her profession despite what might be considered a handicap of physical plainness. The actress, with characteristic and disarming frankness, often observes: was lucky never to have been a beauty.

"I was a character-actress from the beginning,' she recalls, "often playing the friend of the beautiful star, or the plain maiden aunt, or the slightly pathetic, next-door neighbor.

Such parts, which not infrequently are more interesting and challeng-ing than leading lady assignments, are actually the most difficult to cast and portray successfully. It was in the role of the "next-door neighbor" that

Miss Heckart scored one of her earlier triumphs in "The Bad Seed." She later won an Oscar nomination for the same role in the screen version.

For such varied, diffi-cult roles, Miss Heckart has received a half-dozen Tony nominations for her stage work. In 1973 she earned a supporting actress Oscar as the mother in "Butterflies Are Free. She has been the recipient of many awards over a long and distinguished career of more than 30 years on the stage and in television and films.

Miss Heckart worked hard to prepare herself for the stage presentation of "Eleanor." Prior to the start of rehearsals, she spent many hours for several days at the Eleanor Roosevelt Library in Hyde Park, N.Y. She steeped herself in the atmosphere of the Roosevelt family home, and in the huge collection of lore about the late, great "First Lady of the World," so that Eleanor might become "alive" again. listening pleasure . .
